INTRODUCTION

At IVE, our mission is to ensure a more creative future for the UK. We work with secondary schools, primary schools and other educational establishments to achieve this.

We also support arts and cultural organisations ranging from major institutions such as theatres and museums, to individual artists and everything in between.

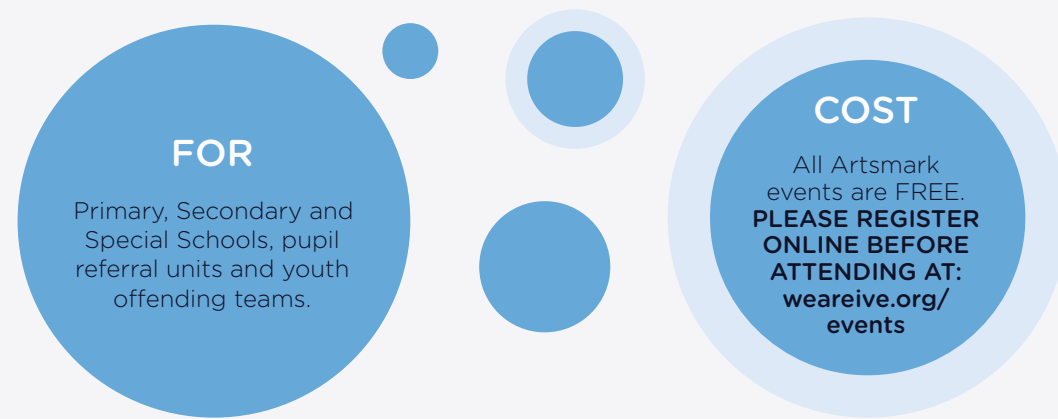

Throughout the year we host regular events for training, CPD and networking with the aim of helping schools, organisations and artists improve the quality of the creative education that they offer.

Refunds due to cancellation are only available up to 30 days before the event.

ARTSMARK

Awarded by Arts Council England the new Artsmark is a useful, practical and forward thinking tool. Re-designed by schools for schools in 2015, Artsmark will help you to embed arts and culture in your whole school improvement plan.

It provides a framework and resources to assess current provision and to develop a plan of action to suit your own setting. It can provide evidence of how your school is meeting the social, moral, cultural and spiritual Ofsted requirements.

The Artsmark offers you tools and support to enrich, develop and strengthen your school's arts and cultural provision across the curriculum and the school community. Artsmark also celebrates your school's strengths and helps you to share them with the wider world.

Achieving an Artsmark Award is an approximately 2 year process comprised of the following steps.

There are several stages on the Artsmark journey and IVE offers support and guidance along the way.

ARTSMARK BRIEFING

Artsmark Briefings are for schools interested in Artsmark and want to find out more. At these briefings, we explain what Artsmark is and how it can benefit your school, answer any questions about the process and explain how IVE can support your school once you start.

UPCOMING DATES:

ARTSMARK DEVELOPMENT DAY

Once you've signed up at www.artsmark.org.uk you'll need to come along to one of our Development Days.

Artsmark Development Days are an essential part of the new Artsmark process. They must be attended by 2 members of staff, the Artsmark lead and a senior member of staff (even if the Artsmark lead is also a senior member of staff.) During this full day's training you will begin to explore how you can plan to use arts and culture to meet your whole-school priorities, with the support of our Artsmark experts.

ARTS AWARD

Arts Award is a range of 5 qualifications (Discover, Explore, Bronze, Silver and Gold) that anyone up to age 25 can complete. It motivates and celebrates children and young people's artistic achievements. Children and young people gain new knowledge and understanding of their chosen art form and the wider arts world as well as the opportunity to work with creative industry professionals.

Children & young people undertaking Arts Award are supported by Arts Award Advisers. Becoming an Arts Award Adviser requires completing a training session, after which you're fully qualified to deliver this qualification at the level(s) you've attended training for.

You can start the delivery of Arts Award at any level, depending on the age range you work with. Progression through the levels is encouraged but it's not a requirement to work through them all from the beginning. IVE can provide tailored support to help you find the best way to deliver Arts Award.

If you are unable to make any upcoming training dates, we can arrange to deliver Arts Award Adviser training in-house. Please contact us for a quote to deliver this training.

DEVELOPING INDEPENDENT LEARNERS

Developing Independent Learners is a CPD course that offers teachers a set of principles on which to develop a curriculum intent that focuses on developing independent learners through creativity. It also gives teachers new tools, methods and strategies to implement this curriculum so the independent learning capacity of pupils is increased. Ultimately, this course supports teachers to understand how curriculum intent might be implemented so as to achieve maximum impact on standards and learning, thus preparing them well for the new Ofsted framework 2019.

GETTING TO GRIPS WITH THE ARTS COUNCILS' QUALITY PRINCIPLES

Arts Council England has developed a set of Quality Principles' to underpin high quality work with, by and for, children and young people.

Our popular and successful structured support programme allows you work alongside a small group of peers in the arts and culture sector to:

- Identify an area of your current practice where you'd like to actively explore one or more of the quality principles.
- Create shared space and time for you to critique and share the ways in which you monitor, review and reflect on the impact of your work.
- Identify and reflect upon the changes in practice that this brings about and consider how to embed new practice/thinking.
- Share your journeys more widely at an event for other arts and cultural organisations across the region.

The programme consists of 3 half-day group sessions (you need to attend all sessions) and a final open sharing event.

JANUARY TO APRIL 2019 GROUP

PUTTING THE ARTS COUNCILS' QUALITY PRINCIPLES INTO PRACTICE - SHARING EVENT

If you work with children and young people, this is your opportunity to hear about the experiences of other arts and cultural organisations and practitioners that have been participating in our structured support programme exploring the 7 Quality Principles and get to grips with the Quality Principles for yourself. You'll gain an understanding of why they have been developed and how they might influence and support your future programmes of work.

DATE	VENUE	TIME
Friday 17th May 2019	Leeds Yorkshire Dance, St Peters Square, LS9 8AH	1.00pm - 4.00pm

UNCONSCIOUS BIAS

Our backgrounds, past experiences, societal stereotypes and cultural contexts impact on our decisions and actions, often without us realising it. This is known as Unconscious Bias, and in this workshop you will gain an understanding of what unconscious bias is, how your brain makes incredibly quick judgements and assessments of people and situations without you realising and how this impacts on your decisions. This workshop will help you uncover your unconscious biases and be more mindful of your impact moving forward.

UNCONSCIOUS BIAS WORKSHOP

DATE	VENUE	TIME
Monday 14th January	Leeds Yorkshire Dance, St Peters Square, LS9 8AH	10.00am - 1.00pm
Monday 15th October	Leeds Yorkshire Dance, St Peters Square, LS9 8AH	10.00am - 1.00pm

DIVERSITY & INCLUSION LABS (INCLUDING UNCONSCIOUS BIAS WORKSHOP)

Arts Council England regularly funded organisations are required to implement the “Creative Case for Diversity,” and so put diversity at the heart of the decisions taken about artists commissioned and employed and the programmes presented. Using a peer support model, our Diversity and Inclusion Labs will provide space for small groups of arts and cultural organisations to come together 3 times over 2 months, with structured support, to get to grips with the Creative Case for Diversity, and explore ways that inclusion and diversity are approached in their respective organisations. As a group of peers, this is a space to have open and honest conversations, share experiences and learn together. You will be supported to explore diversity in a way that is relevant to you and sustainable for your organisation.

The first session includes an Unconscious Bias workshop which can also be taken separately (see previous page).
